Literature Circle #2 - Half Time Meeting Individual Response

You will be writing the answers to these questions for me to read. I'll be sure to write some comments so you feel like you talked to someone about your book. You should provide two answers/responses where indicated. Your answers should be several sentences; remember that you are discussing the book. This activity will count as one quiz grade.

Explain how your book begins, AND explain what you thought of the opening.

 Response:

Identify the main character(s), what he/she (they) want, and what or who is keeping him/her (them) from getting it.

 Response:

Identify the main character. Do you like him / her? Explain why and/or why not.

 Response:

Discuss your opinion of a character other than the main character.

 Response (one character):

 Response (another character):

Getting to know a character is always more interesting when an author shows us something about a character instead of directly telling us. State a personality trait of a character and then identify something the character says or does that shows the character's personality trait to the reader.

 Response:

 Response:

All stories have suspense. What are you waiting to find out in your book? Has the author provided any indication as to what the result will be?

 Response:

What can you relate to in the book? If there is nothing, what new things are you learning?

 Response:

Make a statement to your group about one of the following in terms of your book:

Point of view, Format, Technical or specialized language, Graphic sex or violence, Time progression, Setting, Title, Chapter headings, Humor
